

Logan Weber

Motivational Speaker
& Author

Logan Weber is a highly-rated motivational speaker with over a decade of experience. His dynamic, relevant, and laugh-out-loud presentations have led to "encore opportunities" as some of the nation's top organizations, associations, and school districts continue to bring him back to inspire their teams.

Logan has keynoted the School Nutrition Association's and FBLA-PBL's National Leadership Conferences, as well as dozens of statewide conferences in nutrition, education, and healthcare. Logan is the co-author of the best-selling book, "Sticks and Stones Exposed: The Power of Our Words," and the creator of the renowned "My Inbox is Full and I Can't Get Out" advanced time management and personal productivity program. Available in-person, virtually, or on demand, the diversity of industries accessing his content is staggering. From education, to automotive, to service, to healthcare and from students to CEOs, Weber is positively influencing lives across the country and around the world.

Logan is passionate about Christlike servant-leadership and positively impacting the world around him. He serves on the board of Live Transformed Ministries which exists to provide spiritual, mental, and physical resources to the disenfranchised in the community, and he volunteers alongside his wife in several different capacities at their church. At 15 years old Logan also co-founded the non-profit organization Dry Tears, which constructed deep-water wells and irrigation systems in rural Africa and South America. In its three years of existence Dry Tears funded 28 wells and two full irrigation systems, earning a Helping Hands award from United Way in 2008 for its significant impact.

Logan, his wife Mallory, and their kids live in Dallas, Ga.
